Stretching in bed, I sat up with hair all in my face. My body was still exhausted from last night's sleep, but it soon went away as I stretched. My feet hit the cold New York apartment floors of New York City, and they sent a chill up my spine. I stood up quickly and walked to the kitchen, putting on the teapot for some tea. I started moving toward the bathroom in a slow tumble. The water was set to hot, as I picked out my clothes for the day. Work was in an hour, and a new building wanted to be designed. That's what I'm notorious for after all, being an architect. The shower was swift, and getting ready became a blur because I have performed it so much. I distantly detected the teapot shutting off which means it was boiling. Walking back to the kitchen, I put on my shoes and added the tea bag to steep. The rest of the morning flew by as it was soon time to clock in at work. I took my bag and traveled out of the room. The subway took me to my destination swiftly; early workers were already beginning the construction. The day flew by in a pleasant flash, and I walked back to the subway, this time going to a small coffee shop in a less populated part of NYC. My laptop was all the company I needed as I worked on new and old projects while sipping cold coffee. The day ended too soon as I now needed to go home. The ride was pleasant and filled with earbud music. The day came to a close, as I laid in bed taking it all in. I did it, all my dreams came true. I fell asleep to that nice thought.

If I could be famous it would be because I opened a special education school. The special ed. school has really nice kids, and we teach them to be kind, respectful, and how to play nicely. The reason I would want to work at a special ed. school is because I like helping others.

Piper Braswell, 2nd, Rock Springs Elementary, Mrs. Charlton

My name is Reagan. I got famous by selling one of my paintings to The Art Institute of Chicago. In a typical day I would go to my office and draw or paint. This is how I got famous.

Reagan Kiser, 4th, Miller Perry Elementary, Ms. Jeffers

If I was going to be famous, it would be for my awesome basketball skills. My typical day as a star basketball player would be amazing because I would get to play the game I love. I would be adored by thousands of fans after the game with a big win. After I have won the game and gave a few autographs to the players, I would go out to eat with my teammates. That would be a typical day for me if I was a famous basketball player.

Jordyn Sizemore, 8th, Surgoinville Middle, Mrs. Hensley

I would be a famous person like Billie Eilish. I picked her because she sings well. She would sing to fans. Billie has a pretty voice.

Anna Voyles, 2nd, Rock Springs Elementary, Mrs. Charlton

If I was famous, I would be a famous spelling contestant. I would be famous for spelling "peninsula". My name is Miss Bishop. My daily routine would be to get up at 6:00 am. I would get my clothes on. I would brush my hair. I would eat breakfast. I would eat a fruit salad with eggs. I would brush my teeth. I would then read my dictionary for an hour. I started when I was sixteen, and I am now thirty.

Imagine you are famous and describe a typical day in your life.

If I were famous, I would want to be famous for being a Broadway actress. Being on Broadway, for me, would be living the dream. As a Broadway actress, a typical day would be attending rehearsals six days a week for eight hours a day. Yes, that sounds rather taxing, but I believe that with hard work, dedication, and a love for what you do will make it all worthwhile in the end. After about six-to-eight weeks of rehearsing, I would begin performing shows on Broadway six out of seven days a week for around a year or until my contract is up. That, to me, is a life worth living. I love performing because I get to convey stories and emotions through song. When I'm up on stage, the whole world melts away, and I'm left with my raw emotions. Because at that moment, I'm not me; I'm someone else entirely different. I get to travel through time and to different worlds. I get to escape from my everyday life and become someone new. I don't have to worry about what's going to happen or make any decisions because it's in the script. It's an amazing feeling, one I love experiencing over and over again. These reasons and many more are why, if I happened to be famous, I would want to be a Broadway actress.

If I could imagine that I am famous the person I would want to be is an artist. I love to draw. I am famous because my art is famous. Everyone who buys my art loves it. I was sitting in my chair drawing a huge cute puppy when my friend called and said, "There are a lot of people outside of your door." I finished my art then somebody knocked on my door and asked, "Can I buy it for $100?" I said yes! Hopefully, it is going to happen someday.

Gigi Neal, 4th, Miller Perry Elementary, Ms. Jeffers

If I was famous I would be famous for being a Fortnite pro. I would win tournaments. Also I would stream on YouTube and donate to charity. I'd do meet and greets for my fans and play with subscribers. I would also do giveaways, give money, and give merch.

Eli Kern, 5th, Shoemaker Elementary, Ms. Garrett

I could become famous if I opened an ice cream shop because people would come and they would share it with people if they liked it. Then it could be on Facebook and then the news. I would like being famous because I might get a lot of money. Then if I was rich I could help people that needed help buying things. Then I might get even more famous for doing that. Then people would like my idea and then they could help me. I would love for that to happen. I could get rich then I could share my money with the people that really need it. Then the people that I gave money could buy a house if they needed one and they could buy some clothes. That way everyone could have a great life. That is one way I could become famous. I could help myself and other people, not just me. I would share my money if someone needed it.

Mariana Bocanegra, 5th, Shoemaker Elementary, Ms. Garrett

If I were famous, I would be known for only doing my best at golf. I would be famous for having a world record. My record would be most holes-in-one in 30 minutes. My record would be super hard to beat because my score would be 50 holes-in-one in 30 minutes. That is how I would be famous.

Tanner Hunter, 4th, Miller Perry Elementary, Ms. Jeffers

If I were a famous person, I would be Neil Armstrong. Neil Armstrong is famous because he was on the moon. If I were Neil Armstrong, I would read books about space. I would also look through a telescope at constellations. Who would you be?

Jake King, 2nd, Rock Springs Elementary, Mrs. Charlton

If I was famous, I would have my own reality show. The reason I would have my own reality show is because my family says I'm very dramatic. It would be fun to have your own reality show because everyone could see how your life really is, but at the same time it could be annoying because cameras would be following you everywhere. It would still be fun though. You could do some crazy things and everyone would see them. These are the reasons why I would be famous.

Rosie Trivette, 8th, Surgoinville Middle, Mrs. Hensley

If I was famous I would be famous for football. I am really good at playing football. I hit hard, run fast, and tackle well. I am the second best football player on my team. A good day for me is being at practice all day. Then eating good and getting a lot of rest. These are the things that would make me a famous football player.

Deaven Lawson, 2nd, Hilton Elementary, Ms. Edwards

If I were famous, I'd like to think it'd be for singing. It's my dream job to have a singing career! I mean you get paid for singing, so I'd get paid for doing something I love! It might take a while to get used to a crowd and too many fans bothering me, though. My typical day would probably go like this: I wake up, get a shower, get dressed, make my bed, go eat breakfast—probably cereal, brush my teeth and do all that good stuff. I'd go somewhere to keep from being bored, probably fans following me everywhere, asking, "Oh my gosh! Can I have an autograph?" I'd probably do it unless I was in a rush. I'd eat lunch somewhere then go shopping. I don't like shopping now, but most females when they grow up, they love shopping! I'd probably go home after a long day, eat dinner, change into my pajamas, brush my teeth, go to bed, and then, it all starts over when I wake up...

Kaitlyn Wheeler, 4th, Miller Perry Elementary, Ms. Jeffers

If I were famous I would sing, be on the news and report things, dance on stage, and do cool things like, build a house. I would build 66 houses! I would like to know how long it takes to build a house! Do you know how long it takes to build a house? So if I were famous I would be in a band like my daddy was and play piano. I'd be rich with maybe $1,000,269,000,000. I'll buy a lot of fancy things like picture frames, flowers, and furniture. That's what I would do if I were famous. Love, Lindsey. (I really miss you a lot Dr. Adler!!!)

Lindsey Arrington, 2nd, Rock Springs Elementary, Dr. Adler

I am a famous doctor who ends the coronavirus. I spend my day in the lab experimenting with drugs to cure the people who have the coronavirus. I would make a pill so no one has to get a shot. That would keep anyone from ever getting it.

Logan Skeens, 8th, Surgoinville Middle, Mrs. Hensley
