Have you ever loved a book so much that you wish you were in it? I would love to be in the book PIE because I would help them solve the mystery. I would be Alice (the main character) and meet the cat, Lardo. First, I would help them solve the mystery because they ended up guessing it, getting it wrong, and messed everything up. Second, I would be Alice because she has an ant that can make her the best pie any time she wants. She also gets to keep Lardo as a pet. I would love to be Hermione in Harry Potter. Hermione is very loving and caring in the movie, because she defeated the huge green monster to save her friends. Hermione has magic using a wand and she uses that magic to help others like her enemy, however she likes to fight with him all the time. I would choose the Sonic 2 movie, because I could be the fastest thing ever alive! Then if I got the emeralds I could literally fly. He is a human hedgehog and the fastest sonic ever went was 186,000 miles per second which is super-fast, but it is a big difference when he goes in his form, he goes 767 mph, which is pretty slow compared to normal form. Sonic is fast in normal form in my opinion.
